Eastern Elite CHAOS Hockey Academy proudly announces the launch of the Female Super League (FSL) in Winnipeg. The FSL is scheduled to commence its inaugural season in 2024-25, aiming to elevate female youth hockey by providing a platform for young athletes to develop and grow.

The FSL's maiden season will feature teams in the 12U & 14U divisions, with the CHAOS also offering 16U & 19U divisions. This initiative will include special events to enhance the league's competitiveness and expand opportunities for cross-regional interaction.

A significant feature of the FSL is its commitment to player safety and skill development. In the 14U division, the league will introduce progressive body contact to equip young athletes with essential skills while prioritizing their safety on the ice. This initiative underscores the FSL's dedication to nurturing talent in a supportive and secure environment.

Taylor Greenall, owner of Eastern Elite CHAOS Hockey Academy, emphasized their commitment to providing young female athletes with an advantage by offering over 100 hours of on-ice development, 80 games, college and university visits, team training, and access to their private school.

"I'm excited to see what this group of young ladies can do, with our coaching staff in place the sky is the limit," said Greenall.

For the 2024-25 season, Eastern Elite CHAOS will call Seven Oaks Arena (725 Kingsbury Avenue) home, providing their athletes with state-of-the-art training facilities, including on-ice development, off-ice training, dry land training, and a private school. This strategic move aims to ensure our female athletes can advance to the next stage of their hockey development.

Eastern Elite CHAOS extends an invitation to all hockey stakeholders, supporters, and communities across Canada to join in celebrating the launch of the Female Super League. Together, let us champion the next generation of female hockey stars and inspire future generations of athletes.
